HIS MOTHER'S BOY.

A mother once owned just a commonplace boy. A shock-headed boy, A freckle-faced boy, But though he was handsome, and so said with joy: For mothers are funny, you know— Quite so— About their sons' beauty, you know. His nose, one could see, was not Grecian, but pug, And turned up quite snug, Like the nose of a pig; But she said it was "piquant," and gave him a hug; For mothers are funny, you know— Quite so— About their sons' beauty you know. His eyes were quite small, and he blinked in the sun; But she said it was done As a mere piece of fun And gave an expression of wit to her son, For mothers are funny, you know— Quite so— About their sons' beauty, you know— The carry love-locks that covered his head, She never called red, But suborn instead, "The color the old folks painted," she said. For mothers are funny, you know— Quite so— About their sons' beauty, you know. Now, boys, when your mothers talk so let it pass; Don't look in the glass, Like a vain, silly lass, But go tend the baby, pick chips, weed the grass. Be as good as you're pretty, you know— Quite so— As good as you're pretty, you know.

ENCOURAGE HOME INDUSTRY.

To the Editor of The Tribune:— DEAR SIR:—In view of the dull times would it not have been well for the School Board to have had the seats for the school house made in Deseronto, particularly as I hear that the tender made by the Rathbun Company was less than the price paid by the Board for the seats lately purchased elsewhere. I believe also that the seats manufactured here would have been of a much stronger make than those lately purchased. Yours truly, MECHANIC.

LET US EAT AND DRINK.

To the Editor of The Tribune:— DEAR SIR:—Being a stranger in town, or rather a new comer, and having heard of the wonderful enterprise and the go ahead lot of pushers here, the first thing that hit upon me was, "What am I to do for something to eat?" Good gracious, at home in my native town our grocers and bakers are ever on the watch for something to do for the eye and to fill up our poor mortals. Why, you cannot buy a simple pie or an eatable bun in this town. I find the old, old musty bun we used to buy twenty years ago. So far as the baker is concerned you have nothing to brag of. Why do not one of these bakers run up to one of the cities and spend a few months learning to make pastry? There is one of the best openings for something of that kind in Deseronto. Why, it is simply disgusting, nothing but bread and old buns, and go into our grocery stores, and what do you see—salt fish, salt meat, nothing new or spicy. It is all levin in this town, whether you like it or not. I may be a dyspeptic old grumbler but all the same I am a hungry NEW COMER.

PREPARED FOR BREAKS.

The man who has an open link at hand is prepared for a break in a chain. When at work, when a chain is used at some distance from the barn, it is well to take some of these links along. A break will make a dozen, of different sizes, of good wrought steel, for a slight sum. Have the ends bent slightly inward, for the elasticity of the metal will prevent the parts being brought quite together, and unless the ends are bent inward they will stand open to catch your clothing etc. From a piece of buck skin or oil-tanned leather, which can be got at a leather store, strings can be cut which are just the thing for mending broken straps, for splicing broken sticks, or even for connecting the parts of a broken chair, until better mending can be done. It is well to have one of these things tied to some part of every set of harness. Straps are quickly and securely mended by splicing the ends and joining them with copper rivets. These should have large heads, and corresponding washers for the ends to be hammered down. When an inch or more long they are excellent for holding in place spliced sticks. American Agriculturist for March.

A LONG FELT WANT SUPPLIED.

We are glad to be able to announce that the steamer "Hero" has arranged to make regular trips three times a week from Bay of Quinte to the Thousand Islands during the season of pleasure travel next year. With a larger number than usual from the Bay of Quinte, as well as Americans exploring the Bay and looking up the best fishing grounds, camping places, etc., or visiting the natural curiosities and summer resorts of the Bay district. Capt. Nicholson is anxious to establish the system of the steamer's regular trips and will offer great inducements to this end. The "Hero" is undergoing extensive repairs to boiler, machinery and upper-works, which will be overhauled given to her hull last year will clear her when finished among the first and finest passenger steamers on these waters. With her luxurious furnishings, enviable reputation and genial officers we predict for her success in this new effort to meet the wants of the people.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

The following is a resume of the law in force regarding the receiving of newspapers: 1. Subscribers who do not give express authority to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions. 2. If subscribers do not continue paying for their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send them until arrears are paid. 3. If publishers send to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible for the loss of their bills and ordered them discontinued. 4. If publishers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former direction they are held responsible. 5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them at the subscriber's residence, if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is obliged to send it and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice of discontinuance of all arrears, is sent to the publisher. The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscriptions to run along for some time unpaid and then orders discontinued or orders the postmaster to mark it "Refused" and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

OBITUARY.

On Tuesday morning, Feb. 28th, Mr. Edward Gracey, a well known citizen of Deseronto, breathed his last, aged 65 years. Deceased had been suffering a long time from a cancer in the stomach, which ultimately caused his death. Mr. Gracey was born in Hanbridge, County Down, Ireland, and when three years of age came to this country with his parents who settled in Rawdon, Co. Montreal, Quebec. He afterwards moved to Ingersoll, Ontario, in 1835 to the gravel road, Tyendinaga, where he carried on business. In 1861 he removed to Deseronto and made his home here ever since. For some time he conducted a hotel but subsequently went into the grocery business on St. George street and did a large and profitable business for many years ago he sold his property on St. George street and had since done business on a less scale in the shop adjoining his residence on Mill street. The deceased gentleman was an honored and respected member of the Loyal Orange Association and always consistently and zealously maintained the interests of his party. In religion he was a member of the Church of England in which he had been brought up from infancy. He was married twice and had six children all by his first wife. Of these two sons and a daughter are left to mourn his loss. During the past five or six months he had been confined to the house by the disease, suffering but little pain, but gradually growing weaker, calmly awaiting his approaching end. For a few days, however, before his death he suffered intense pain, but retained his mental faculties until the last. The funeral took place yesterday and was very numerously attended, being under the direction of the Orange Order, members of all the district lodges being in attendance. The services were conducted by Rev. G. A. Anderson, M. A., Christ Church, and Rural Dean Stanton, the sermon was preached from Hebrews, xii. chap. 9th verse a text selected by the deceased. At the cemetery the burial services of the Orange Order were read by Rev. T. M. Jack, District Master, who had been previously requested by the deceased to perform this duty and to whom he had given minute directions concerning all the details as to the manner of the funeral services. The remains were conveyed to Hoffman's cemetery and placed in the vault to be subsequently interred in the cemetery of Christ Church, Tyendinaga.

Mr. John Dalton is making energetic preparations for the approaching summer's trade. In the furniture department he is especially busy, orders coming in already in a most satisfactory manner. He is enlarging his stock so as to give his patrons an unlimited choice. The people of Deseronto and residents of the surrounding district find Dalton's furniture rooms to be one of the institutions of the town. The energetic proprietor will endeavor to make it even more so in the future. Remember the Organ Recital on the 15th inst.

AN ALGOMA TRAGEDY.

There were no drifts in the pine woods through which the lost traveller had wandered, but the snow had filled them deep, and everywhere, Little remained on the dark green branches—the wind had swayed them so violently for that.

And now that the strife and fury of the storm had quite passed a great stillness had settled down upon the woods, pervading its sombre depths. It seemed the sense of finality, of completion. At first the influence of the place was not positively melancholy, only subduing and quieting.

A. STEVENSON.

The Bengalees.

While Rulia is making so much stir in Poland, she does not intermit the business of constructing military railroads in Turkestan. She is now running trains across the Caspian Sea, from the Caucasus to the Caspian having been completed and opened for travel since the beginning of this year. This gives her a continuous railroad route from Michaelovsk, on the east shore of the Caspian, through Kiliš Arvat, Akasbaid, and Baku, to the Caucasus. The line will be pushed through Bokhara and Samarcand to Tashkend. With the railroad to Baku, on the west side of the Caspian, and the connecting boats on the sea, there is already steam communication from St. Petersburg to the Caucasus, and the possibility of a rapid military concentration on the Afghan frontier cannot be overestimated.

Friend (to plaintiff)—“Well, I see you won your suit. I congratulate you.” Plaintiff—“Thanks. Yes, I beat the scoundrel.” Same friend (to defendant)—“I’m sorry to hear you lost your suit, old man?” Defendant—“Yes, the scoundrel beat me.”

The man in the moon must have had an uncomfortable time of it last night of the eclipse. According to the Pittsburgh Dispatch, Prof. Langley, of the Allegheny Observatory, has just made a discovery. By means of the instrument called a bolometer, to measure the temperature of our satellite; and has found that in winter it is in the neighbourhood of 200 degrees below zero. He also found that during a total eclipse the temperature of the moon rapidly falls as the earth's shadow passes over it, and the sun's rays are prevented from reaching the moon's surface, and thereby rendering it to receive no radiant radiation. The gentleman who dwells in the moon, therefore, must have experienced a cold wave on that day, and probably a cold wave in time to reverse the reverse of complimentary.

But the buccaner escaped, and not long afterward he and two of his crew appeared in a rowboat on the barren island of Moloa, one of the Hawaiian group. It is a small, barren rocky place, uninhabited. There his two companions were killed, and he was left alone for twenty-five years. Since his landing there he was called only Mororini, and he was so named because he was a sailor who has been going to and from the Sandwich Islands for ten or twelve years, learned all he could about Mororini, and he was so named because he was so feared by the natives. They carried to him all the delicacies to be found in the kingdom, and he was so named because he was so big and commanding, with a voice like thunder—so powerful that they finally became so afraid of him that they would not go to the water to subside. They would not allow white men to go near the island if they could help it, and he was so named because he had been so commanded by him, and when he died they buried him near the place where he had lived, with much mourning.

A. Europe Election

A unique election recently occurred in a small community in Germany. The vote was taken to decide who was the "best man" in the community. Only one man, a shoemaker, voted, and as he voted for himself, he was declared to be unanimously elected to the position of best man in the municipality.

The amendment to the game law fixes the close season for deer, elk, moose, reindeer or caribou, from 1st December to 31st October; that no hunt or deer which permits deer shall be allowed to run at large in a locality where deer are usually found, between 1st and 15th November, under a penalty of not less than $5 or more than $20; and that every person desiring to hunt deer shall take out a special license for the season from the inspector for the district and shall pay, in addition to license fee, the sum of $1 for every deer taken or killed, being required to make oath as to the number at the end of the season.

A great quantity of lumber has been cut on the Bogart farm in Fredericksburg this year. The Rathbun Company who own the place have had considerable force of men cutting stuff over there all winter, and a number of teams have been engaged hauling to Deseronto. The other day Mr. Thos. Pigen and his men cut down a large pine tree, which was found to be quite sound. The principal piece cut from it measured 30 ft. in length, 24 inches at the top and 36 in in diameter at the butt. A foot 15 foot long was also cut from it, and a cord and a half of good firewood. The shipyard took the large piece valued at about $25. Who would have thought that such a fine monarch of the forest could at this late date have been found within two miles of the remotest saws of the Big Mill?

Mr. R. H. Baker continues to purchase large quantities of barley which comes in quite readily. It is observable that it is being brought to Deseronto from an ever enlarging radius of country, much coming from the neighborhood of Victoria. A very large quantity from Fredericksburg, a section which was not formerly tributary to Deseronto. In former years the trade was over after the first month or two, but now that farmers have discovered that at all periods of the winter they are doing ready sale for their grain, they appreciate the situation and are making Deseronto their chief market. There is no doubt much is due to the fact that Mr. Baker is a popular buyer, but a great deal is owing to the favourable position of Deseronto, and to the fact that farmers can purchase lumber, coal and other supplies and carry them home on their return trip.

The new Chalmers church, Kingston, will cost $23,000.

Mr. Simard Wilson, of the Southern Belle, has accepted the position of chief engineer of the Chicago.

Another member is to be added to Mr. Mowat's cabinet, which will then have seven portfolios. The great state of New York has five million people, Canada is over five. There are fourteen members of the Dominion cabinet. The United States with sixty million people still along very well with a cabinet of seven. Canada is over governed, but the politicians cannot see matters in that light.

Local business men, who find it impossible to collect accounts due, can console themselves with the thought that outsiders can almost invariably get their little little bill. Some local agents recently struck down and got over a hundred subscribers on their subscription list at three dollars per head. Their collector called around the other day and at short notice collected all these sums, and amounts being in nearly every case cheerfully and promptly paid.

From the annual report of the Militia Department we learn that in 1887 the total expenditure of the department was $1,281,235, of which the sum of $257,386 only was spent for drill pay and camp purposes, the balance being spent on staff, material, military college, and schools. The active militia force on paper consists of 37,999 men, of whom 20,253 performed annual drill. The general commanding reports the greater proportion of the corps as inefficient and he urges re-organization.

New Comer in his state of semi starvation gives utterance to some things which should stir up our bakers and grocers to better things. We have had our attention frequently directed by many residents to this very matter. It is too much the habit of the people of this district to adhere to old customs and habits. This won't do in this age. There is no reason why our business men should not offer their customers a big range of choice. New Comer's letter may lead to a very desirable change.

It is astonishing to observe how few people understand the common rules of measurement in purchasing wearing apparel. For instance, a man will buy a coat that is a size too small or too large. A "size" smaller or a "size" larger will not probably mean, but he does not know what a "size" is. Well, a "size" in a coat is an inch, a size in a shirt is two inches, a size in a neck is one inch, in a collar, one-half inch in a shirt, one-half inch; in shoes, one-sixteenth of an inch; pants, one inch; gloves, one-quarter of an inch, and in hats, one-eighth of an inch.

At 9:05 o'clock Tuesday morning, Robert Neil, the murderer of Guard John Rutledge, the Central Prison, Toronto, on January 13th, forfeited his life in the gallows in the jail yard. The doomed man spent the night reading his bible and repeating hymns to himself, in an subdued tone of voice. He was taken to two o'clock. He paced his cell a while, and then would rest a few minutes, sitting on his bed, but he was too restless to consist the night and again began to walk, and so it kept up until the time named. Then he laid himself upon his bed, and slept soundly until a quarter to 7 o'clock. At that hour he rose and he had his last meal brought to him, but he was unable to eat it and it was taken away. At 7:05 o'clock Alexander Howland and Mr. William Goodham were admitted to Neil's cell and spent their time preparing him for his rapidly approaching doom. At 8:50 a. m. the procession left the cell and nine minutes later Neil was in eternity.

The case Scott v. Benedict et al. came up again for hearing before Judge Street at Deseronto on Friday last. This famous case, which effects the title to the ownership of the Scott timber limits, has been in the courts for many years. Coming down to recent years it may be said that in 1880 the plaintiff instituted an action against J. Benedict & Son in which he sought priority over the claims of the latter and his limits for the amount of a certain vendue, limits established against W. A. Scott, the former owner of the lands. Failing in this action the plaintiff then instituted an action against the defendant claiming that W. A. Scott was insane at the date of the first agreement. Meanwhile the Rathbun Company had purchased the limits from Benedict & Son. Scott abandoned his second action and entered a third based on an alleged new right from one Corbett, and sought to obtain an injunction from the court to restrain the Rathbun Company from cutting on the limits. The sum found to be due Benedict & Son on their mortgage securities was $208,000, which with added interest now amounts to $254,000. In the defence it was shown that the Rathbun Company had spent some $15,000 on the limits, that the plaintiff is of no means and an substantial prospect of redeeming, and that in any event his claim could not be prejudiced by the cutting of the limits. Judge Street ruled in favor of the defendant, the plaintiff's claim being dismissed, and the injunction was dissolved. The Rathbun Company will, therefore, continue to cut on the Scott limits, keeping an account of the quantities cut, without any prejudice to their rights. The costs of the motion were reserved to be disposed of at the trial of the action. The decision was heard with great satisfaction by all classes in Deseronto.

Although the news was not unexpected there were general expressions of genuine regret at the receipt of the intelligence of the death of Mr. Alexander Robertson, M. P. for West Toronto. He had been in ill health for several years and was confined to his home a few weeks ago, and ten days ago a change for the worse set in from which he never recovered. He was a son of the late Wm. Robertson, lumberman, and was born in Trenton, Dec. 5th, 1838. Seven years ago he resigned his seat in the assembly and contested the West Riding for the Commons. He was successful and was elected by a large majority. At the last election he was again returned to the Commons. He was vice-consul at Belleville for the Hawaiian Kingdom, and a prominent member of St. Andrew's, the Masonic, and other societies. In religion he was a Presbyterian; a member of St. Andrew's Church. He was married to the eldest daughter of the late Dr. Stewart, who died a few days ago. She died in 1874 leaving one child by whom he is survived. The funeral will take place on Saturday at 2 p. m.

Dress Goods.

There seems already to be quite a stir in the Dress Goods Department. The new suitings and dress goods with Buttons, Trimmings, &c., to match are very much admired. Our Spring Tweed Suitings, for fashionable Tailor made Costumes are especially attractive. We can't tell you about all the new things. The materials are so varied and as each one has its own special attraction they must be seen to be appreciated. Remember that is one of our leading departments.

Prints.

Ladies are inquiring every day about Prints. We wish to state that our new prints are nearly all to hand. There is only one more shipment which we expect the first of next week. If you want prints our stock is so large, the patterns so new and numerous and the prices so low that you will scarcely fail to find something to suit you. We commence them at 5c per yard.

Cottons.

We think we hear you say "why do you tell us about Cottons every week?" The reason is because we are favorably impressed with our values in this line and if our impressions are correct it will certainly be to your advantage to buy from us. Manufacturers are such cunning fellows and manufacture so many different qualities so many different widths, and have such a variety of prices that you cannot be too careful in making your purchases. Our cottons without a single exception are not less than 1 yd. wide. We have the makes of all the principal mills of the Dominion so that you may compare the merits of each. The prices range from 4c per yd. up.

Shirtings, Ducks & Cottonades.

Our new stock outshines anything ever shown in these lines before. We have some new makes which are extra value and will be found very desirable goods. It will not be necessary to quote you prices because we can tell you the prices to better advantage when you are examining the goods.

Millinery.

In our new, well lighted and spacious rooms on the first floor this department should be more popular than ever before during the coming season. The heads of the department are in Montreal and Toronto selecting new goods and preparing for the spring trade. The Reliable Dry Goods House.

BUY IN THE CHEAPEST MARKET.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

DEAR SIR:—I quite agree with "Mechanic" in the view he has taken of the School Board, provided all is gospel which he has stated, but it is not. In the first place we invited tenders. The tender of the Rath-bun Company at $106 thirty cents, to be delivered in the school room in or about three weeks. The Preston tender for 30 cents to be delivered at Deseronto Junction
was $99.82; from Junction to school room freight and carting cost 75 cts., therefore saving $4.43. Now, Sir, if Mechanic will go up to the school I am quite sure he will agree with me in saying that the School Board have done their duty, for we have got a seat which is twice larger than the Rathbun Company tender and I am sure worth 75 cts. each more.

R. GEDDIS.

BAKERS AND GROCERS.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

DEAR SIR:—Last week's issue of THE TRIBUNE contained an article concerning bakers and grocers. In reply I must say it is a pity that "New Comer" failed to find any penny buns in town. I admit it is hard to get a satisfactory five cent meal without penny buns, or cartwheels as they are called.
I think the writer is a little bold in his statements concerning bread. I will venture to say that there is as good bread baked in Deseronto as in any neighboring town or city. As for many buns I defy the face of man to say that one baker in this town ever sold, or offered for sale, buns over five hours old. If the writer's cook or wife, as the case may be, should buy buns and not bring them on the table until they are musty,
is the baker to be blamed? As for cakes, pies, pastry and franchises this town does not want any such shops. The young ladies are quite capable to do such work and we are proud of them for it. The man that starts in this town to make a living out of fancy cakes or pastry won't live long. There are already two shops in town where any kind of cakes or pastry may be obtained by leaving your order. Hoping the "New Comer" may be satisfied to leave his order for his cart wheel buns and as Lent is in full bloom salt meat and fish is just what suits the taste.

LOCAL ITEMS.

We prepared for a great boom in ca-
state this summer.

The Orange Grand Lodge for Ontario East
has been in session this week at Fort Hope.
The song service in the Methodist Church
last Sunday evening attracted a large congregation.

Mr. George Clays, M. P. for Mississauga, died at Ottawa last Sunday night from Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain crosses the Atlantic in the same steamer with Mr. George Field of this place.

Mr. W. H. Higgs has been chosen Es-form candidate for West Hastings. The Conservative candidate will be chosen next Tuesday.

Mrs. Hillman, Miss Howden, Miss Burdett, three favorite vocalists, will take part at the Sacred Concert next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Terms $1.50 per quarter payable in advance.

The old evil of shop loading is again filling its head in our midst. Many of the business men are losing customers by allowing a lot of leaders to lean around their counters.

Mr. Robert Dodds and a gang of men from Kingston have arrived in town and are busy overhauling and repairing the boilers of the different steamers of the Deseronto Navigation Company.

Messrs. Crowley and Dewey have held very successful evening meetings at Billings-town. As a result of their labours one hundred and fifty persons have been converted. Walkerton is their next field of labour.

While opposed to any property qualification
for electors, we nevertheless think that Mr.
Mowat's bill might be improved by the addition of a clause making it necessary for the elector to show a valid receipt for the local paper before his name could be recorded on the list.

Several farmers have been asking us of late if there is any prospect of a good agricultural implement emporium being established in Deseronto. The repairing season is at hand and tools and supplies of all kinds will be required.

It is said that much of the meat offered on the market last Saturday was miserable in quality and that some was so spoiled as to be positively dangerous to health. It might be well for the corporation to appoint an inspector to look after this matter.

Wm. Donaldson and his gang of men made remarkable quick time of the other day filling a charcoal kiln, with wood for a burn. In 94 hours they filled and built up 45 cords of wood. As part had to be filled in below and a portion dumped in from above it will be seen that fast time was made.

Rev. John Snodgrass, of Deseronto, will exchange pulpits with Rev. R. J. Craig on Sabbath. The latter will conduct the opening services in connection with a week
of evangelical meetings that are to be addressed by different members of Presbytery.

A similar course of action was taken last week at the same place, in the Church of the Redeemer, Deseronto.

A garnish and attachment were recently served on the agent of the Central Ontario Railway, and filed in the exchequer office for the sum of $283.00, following up the judgment on the suit of McMullen v. Ritchie.

This is said to be the heaviest attachment
ever placed in Hastings County.

That vast pile of refuse which was stored
last season on the trestle dock has been all consumed as fuel, and the mounds are now
drawing on the pile of refuse in the yard.
No person could have imagined last fall that such quantities of fuel could be required. It is but another proof of the extensive character of the manufacturing industries of Deseronto.

The Sacred Concert and Organ Recital in the Church of the Redeemer next Thursday evening, 15th inst., is the one event of the week.

The sale of reserved seats has been unprecedentedly large and with such a strong array of musical talent there is every assurance of a complete success on the occasion. Parties who have not yet secured seats should go to Egar's where the diagram of seats may be inspected.

The demands for the products of the Deseronto Flour Mills has increased so much during the past winter that the capacity of the Mills will be enlarged. Several changes with that end in view are now in progress.

Among others we observe that an iron bridge has been erected for more effectively conveying the bran and shorts from the mill to the bran-house. Farmers continue to bring in grain from all sections of the surrounding country, many from distances which seem surprising.

A meeting will be held in the Methodist Church to night to consider the advisability of enlarging the church. The congregation has steadily increased in numbers until the building is no longer adequate for the accommodation of either the congregation or Sunday School.

Though the trustees believe that the members and friends of the Church fully realize the necessity or rather the indispensability of a larger building for worship and will heartily co-operate in the undertaking, still they have decided, and we think wisely, to call a meeting, when all who are interested will have an opportunity of expressing their views. The money necessary to complete the work has already been proffered on easy terms of payment and judging from the enterprise and go-a-head-tendencies which this large and industrious congregation have evinced in the past, we feel safe in venturing the assertion that the meeting to night will be a unit in favor of a larger church and that the work will be requested and encouraged to proceed with the work as soon as the weather will permit

APOLGNETIC.

During the agitation of the license by-law question a letter signed "A Widow"
appeared in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.
Mr. James Cameron considered himself the person against whom its statements were directed and felt that it had done injury to his business and reputation. With the consent of the author, the name of the writer of the letter has been given to Mr. Cameron.
It is quite unnecessary to say that we regret that any communique of this kind may have
appeared in the columns of THE TRIBUNE
should directly or indirectly have wrought any injury to Mr. Cameron. We have heard it stated that Mr. Cameron intended to take vigorous legal proceedings against the author of the letter, but we feel confident that in the interest of peace and good will
he will permit matters to rest.

of the wind and its changes. There is a couplet which conveys an important rule with respect to the change of wind-direction, and the truth of which is well known to every sailor. "When the wind shifts against the sun, Trust it not, for back it will run." The wind in the northern hemisphere usually shifts with watch hands, and a change in this direction is called veering. A change in the opposite way is called backing, and indicates that a storm is approaching.

The Orilla Packet tells of a striking instance of animal affection. On Mr. Blair's farm an exceedingly tame dog and an aged, rather vicious horse formed a strong attachment. This affection was constant for several years, until some short time since the horse died, and the dog was left in the bush. A member of the family found the dog early one morning lying by the side of the carcass of the horse. The dog continued for three weeks, the dog manifesting every evidence of grief, until one morning it too was found stretched out in death beside his friend.

In the meantime the firm is advertising for the firm. It is, further, a thorough justification of trades commission regulations. A "Put and Call."

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated, but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock at a fixed day at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious option to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. MASONIC CONVERSATION.

The conversation held in the Masonic Hall on the evening of Friday, 2nd inst., under the auspices of the officers of Craig Lodge, A. F. & A. M., proved a very enjoyable and successful event. The responses to the invitations issued was general and as a result the attendance was large and representative. The officers and members of the Lodge wore badges and manifested an earnest desire to make their visitors feel at home within the precincts of the lodge which while to the uninitiated is connected with mystic rites and solemn ceremonies. As for the lodge-room it presented a very pleasing and inviting appearance. There was abundant evidence that much time and skill had been expended in the work of decoration and the committee to whom this task had been assigned must certainly be accorded great credit for their successful endeavors, the arrangements being all very tastefully executed, and eliciting from the assembled guests general expressions of admiration. The seats had been arranged with a view to dispel that distance and reserve so unfortunately characteristic of Deseronto audiences. At the proper hour Rev. L. J. Craig, Master of the lodge, called the meeting to order and in a neat speech welcomed the visitors and gave them some information concerning the objects and principles of masonry, and then duly installed Mr. W. D. McKee as master of ceremonies for the evening. That gentleman immediately proceeded to read a collection of songs, readings, music, &c., from members of the audience. Instrumental music was contributed by Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Hillman, Miss Millie Anderson and Miss Miller. Vocal solos were well rendered by Mrs. Hillman, Mrs. Campbell, Miss Millie Anderson, and Mr. H. Aylsworth. Mr. Bedford, Principal Cole, and Mr. Brie contributed capital readings, and Rev. A. Campbell, and Messrs. Aylsworth and Russell delivered addresses. During a termination of the evening cake, coffee and fruit were served and enthusiastically discussed. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought this interesting social event to a close.

"Admiral Denia" would wish to impress on the local correspondents of the Tribune that Admirals, like nearly all distinguished persons are very modest and do not seek any addition to their honors or fame through the correspondence columns of the local press. They may not object to an occasional passing notice any more than other mortals, but do object to being made the subject of a newspaper controversy which they have no voice, or being made responsible for statements that are not authorized. The suggestion is offered that when all is said on any subject that is worth saying it would be better to let it drop and take up some other subject. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" or even a new song at all might be preferable to drawing too largely on a lively imagination or furnishing news that has long been old.

There are now 5,454 school houses in the Province, of which 6437 were open in 1886, distributed as follows:—5,000 in rural districts, 297 in towns, and 170 in cities. The expenditure on apparatus and prizes in the last eleven years amounted to $217,614, and the expenditure on school buildings, to 179,029.

A LETTER FROM QUEBEC.

(Translated from the French.)

GENTLEMEN,—I have deferred writing the letter to testify to the benefits derived from the use of your SIMSON'S LINIMENT. It has done wonders among all the people who have used it since here.

I can certify that in every case where I have used it myself I have been very well satisfied.

Mr. N. Mooney, of St. Sylvester, had a bad leg which was said to be incurable. I told him to use Simson's Liniment, and it has effected a complete cure in a very short time. His neighbor, Mr. John Delvin, having received a serious cut on his leg, Mr. Mooney took him the Liniment, and having used it, found himself completely cured.

I have been assured of the cures of these people, and the remedy having become known, it has created quite a demand, people coming as far as 35 miles to procure it for themselves.

Mr. Wm. Bennett, of St. Ferdinand, has had it some time for himself, and he has since bought it for his friends, who suffer from Rheumatism, and they have all been well satisfied.

I have never known any medicine to have had such good results about here as Simson's Liniment.

Hoping that it will prove as satisfactory elsewhere.

I am, yours truly,

DAMASK PAGEOT, Merchant.

LESS LAND AND LARGER YIELDS NEEDED.

It is not in additional acreage that the progressive farmer must look for his gains, but in making less land yield more substance. This means, primarily, the bestowing of more labor upon small areas; and that the average farmer this season synonymous with neglect of his larger acreage of grain. To harmonize these apparently conflicting methods is the task of the intelligent farmer of to-day. The two principal methods by which the value of the product of a limited portion of our acreage can be increased, are: the growing of vegetable supplies for our home markets throughout the season; and the growing of field crops of vegetables for shipment to city markets in the fall and winter. The first of these is particularly applicable to those farmers who are located near medium-sized towns—say of from three thousand to ten thousand population. Regular market-gardeners usually locate near the larger cities; and these smaller towns are dependent for their supply of spring and summer vegetables upon the scant surplus of some farmers' gardens or upon shipments from the cities. The second method noted can be advantageously pursued by such as are located near cities, as their entire product can be there disposed of to a wholesale merchant; or by those remote from cities but near railroad over which their crops can be shipped in bulk to the city commission dealer.—American Agriculturist for March.

WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unappetizing but too well-known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and diarrhoea or Constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Groen's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers; there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery or Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all drug gists throughout the world. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

This proves that woman is obstinate.

After conducting themselves admirably for two or three months, the postal clerks are again on the rampage and bundles of newspapers are now regularly carried by their destination two or three times a week.

The ladies of St. John's church, Mary-burg, and S. Philip's, Milford, are busily engaged in raising a substantial sum of money for the purchase of a large and bulky for the Rev. Robt. Atkinson. Mrs. Church-warden Bongard is the prime mover in this noble effort.

Several residents of Deseronto went over to Prince Edward last Saturday to record
their votes for the respective candidates.

On the other hand several voters, residing in Prince Edward were spirited over to Deseronto where they remained concealed all day. Such is politics.

An examination of the public accounts will show that less of the public money is spent in the ridings skirting the Bay of Quinte than in any other riding in the Dominion. This is as it should be, for certainly in no section are the people less alive
to the assertion of their rights and interests.

The subway which is to be built by the Grand Trunk between Sarnia and Port Huron will,
with its approaches, be three miles in length.
Of the distance 2,310 feet will be under the River St. Clair. The tunnel cylindrical in form, will have a diameter of 20 feet in the clear. The greatest depth of water over the top of the work will be 40 feet.

The difference in level between Lake Superior feet below the lowest known water level of

nary lake level, and a width at the bottom of 80 feet, here and no locks.

On Thursday evening, March 22nd, an interesting meeting will be held in the feature of the evening will be an address by Father Philippe de Saillieres, with Staff-Lieut.

Paul as interpreter. It is thus seen that the occasion will prove highly interesting.
Admission 10 cts. The public are cordially invited to be present.

The boys of the public school have been

The boys of the school seldom indulge in healthy or manly way.

The Grindly News, England, dated Feb.
17th, 1888, gives an account of the presentment to her. It is a most interesting and address under the following heading:
"A Canadian Item."—A copy of THE TRIBUNE, Deseronto, Ontario, Friday, Jan. 20th, contains the following, and after giving the account adds that Mr. Atkinson's numerous friends at home share with him in this pleas-

of affection and esteem.

The storm on Tuesday was probably the most severe that has been experienced since railway traffic over the greater part of Canada and the Eastern States. Country roads were very much blocked in this section where the heavy lines of traffic are better than
in other portions of the province.

The Minister of Education in his annual report makes the usual wall about irregularity of attendance at schools and the evils resulting therefrom. He fails to suggest a remedy. As long as our local government lacks the pluck to bring in an act enforcing attendance of children, so long will the evil continue to render our schools inefficient.

A genuine Maine Yankee has been doing a stirring business at the waterfront of Deseronto, selling to steamboat passengers a dire preventive to sea sickness for five cents a package. The remedy is simply nice, bright, clean strips of dried codfish, and it is well worth the money for the purpose for which it is used.

Local interest was evinced here in the result of the great pugilistic encounter between Mitchell and Sullivan. The battle ended in a draw after thirty-nine rounds had been fought. Mitchell eluded his giant adversary and by his clever strategy wearied
him, and had the mill been prolonged the probabilities are that Mitchell would have been declared victor. There appears to have been little of the honest, old fashion ed slugging.

Although got up on short notice the Young Peoples Association social held in the parlour of the Presbyterian Church last Friday evening proved a very pleasant event, the attendance being good and the programme excellent. Mr. W. D. McCrae filled the chair with becoming grace. The program consisted of piano solo by Miss Cameron, piano duet by Misses Cameron and McElroy, selection on the piano and voice by Mrs. M. D. Campbell; vocal solo by Miss Bothwick, Mrs. M. D. Campbell, Miss Hattie Bowen and Wm. Geddis;
a quartette by the Misses Bothwick, Deas, Bowen, and the Stoddard; Rev. R. J.
Craig, Dr. Allen, and the chairman also gave eloquent addresses. During the evening music and coffee was served in great profusion.

A pleasing episode occurred at the O'Connor home on Wednesday evening
when Miss Margaret and Miss Annie Sharp, housekeeper and stewardess respectively at that popular hostelry, were presented with a handsome set of china
each by the boarders who theretofore had quarters. These young ladies who have been for some years connected with the hotel, and their friends, and as they are leaving the hotel and a state of single blessedness at the same time, the boarders with great unanimity voted to show their appreciation of the fair officers in the manner above stated. The presentation all appeared to be a spontaneous offer supported by such warm, open, and cordial sentiments, and a time of enjoyable pleasure passed.

There is one thing that the proprietors of

The postage has been changed and that is to

are to be charged for.

Western papers are hinting at the possi-

only a scheme to get detachments of moun-

thus secure expenditures of public money.

Somebody has counted the mistakes of life, and arrived at the conclusion that there are fourteen of them. Most people would say, if they told the truth, that there was not but the drops in the ocean or the sands on the shore in number, but it is well to be accurate. Here, then, are fourteen great mistakes: It is a great mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly; to measure the world by our own; to expect the uniformity of opinion in the world; to look for judgment and experience in youth; to endeavor to mold all dispositions alike; not to yield to intellectual trifles; to look for perfection in our own actions; to worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied; to take all that is given to us as our own; to make allowances for the infirmities of others; to expect everything impossible; to be unable to perform; to believe only what our little minds can grasp; to expect to be able to understand everything; the greatest of mistakes is to go on time alone, when any moment may launch us into eternity.

Since time is not a person we can overtake when he is past, let us have more mirth and cheerfulness of heart while he is passing. Time is the loveliest thing that grows beneath the sun to those who know how to use it aright. Nothing could be more conducive to this end than a cheerful and commodious music hall in this village. Can we not have one? Let us remind our citizens that we cannot live always.

"We should hold fast to principles at all cost, and work directly in the line of the best models; thus will our consciences be clear, our characters pure, and our lives will be fruitful in the best results." Therefore when public measures, calculated to advance the interests of the village, are brought forward, every citizen should take hold and keep beyond the pocket limit. On the contrary, if you abandon principle and resort to expediency, you assume a load under which you will continually totter, and so down at last, probably, unsuccessful, certainly unrespected. Leave expediency to politics.

The largest magnet in the world is at Willett's Point, N.Y., where two 15 inch Dahlgren guns with eight miles of cable wrapped about them have been employed for the purpose. Some faint idea of the power may be received from the fact that it takes a pressure of 25,000 pounds to pull off the armature. A crowbar which was applied to the magnet required the force of four strong men to tear it away. A handful of pins thrown in the opposite direction immediately flew back and attached themselves to the magnet. A seemingly impossible experiment was performed with some 15 inch cannon balls. The balls were solid, and as much as a strong man could lift, yet the magnet held several of them suspended in the air, one under the other.

The people of Montreal are making praiseworthy efforts to force the Dominion Government to assume the Lake St. Peter channel debt, and to restore the moneys drawn from its shipping trade as interest on that debt. We hope they will be successful for the slightest consideration given to the matter will show that the charges now levied on shipping are excessive and result driving trade to New York and other ports in the United States. It is not Montreal alone that suffers; the business of the whole country is affected by the harassing port Lawrences. We have no doubt that public opinion will sustain the government in any measure calculated to afford the necessary relief. With Montreal a free port, canal duties removed, and the capacity of the canals increased, the St. Lawrence route would soon gain the greater proportion of the carrying trade of the great west.

The eighteenth annual report of the Inspector of Charities upon the hospitals of the Province of Ontario is to hand. From it we learn that during 1887 there were treated in these sixteen hospitals 7,722 patients an increase of 487 on the preceding year. The cost was $33,075 an increase of $5,735 on the previous year. In the Belleville Hospital 487 were treated during the year 86 under treatment, of whom 8 died. Of those admitted 63 came from Belleville, 14 from County Hastings and from other counties, male 55, female 53; 67 Protestant, 29 Roman Catholic. Revenue from the Province of Ontario $87; Belleville City, $280; County Hastings, $87; from patients $549.25; donations from private individuals $589.13; other donations $688.41—Total $1,084.37. The government grant for 1888 is $1,101.29.

A GREAT SECRET; OR, SHALL IT BE DONE.

CHAPTER XXIII.

It was with many qualms of conscience that Gerald, after taking a tender farewell of Peggy as she slipped off her bonnet and hurried off to the parish church at which Mr. Binks had so opportunely had the banns pronounced for his marriage early on the following morning. Under the circumstances, however, he was bound to do the worst of it. Gerald returned to Mr. Walton's in an ecstasy of impatient happiness, against which the fear of Mr. Binks's displeasure was powerless. After all, Peggy was twenty-one, she had a right to choose her husband; her father had never even pretended to care for her, and it was only by Gerald's own persuasion that she had consented to obey his command that she should return to "Les Bouleaux."

Gerald's own feeling toward his employer had undergone a great change. He had had to acknowledge that Mr. Binks's kindness to himself had not been so great or disinterested as for six years he had believed it to be, and although Gerald fought firmly against the suggestion that the paralytic had any direct knowledge of the manœuvres in which it was evident that Mr. Smith was actively concerned, yet the bond between master and servant was so strong that it was impossible to suspect the one without looking askance at the other.

Mr. Smith did not seem to care for the prejudice his eyes, or perhaps his ears, had told him existed against him in Gerald's mind. He called it the "Albany Theatre" as soon as Peggy had gone upstairs. He was amusing enough when he liked, and against his will Gerald enjoyed his society more than the representation of The Beggar Student, which at that time occupied the boards of the Albany Theatre. The curtain fell on the first act, Mr. Smith jumped up with alacrity from his seat, and pulled his companion up by the arm.

"Come and see this," said he eagerly. "There's nothing makes one so thirsty as the front of a theatre—except the back." These words recalled to Gerald's mind the dark suspicion which his companion's genial manner had for the time caused him to forget. He allowed himself to be led to one of the boxes, and a glass of champagne as Smith would take no refusal, but he steadily refused to have a second; and when they returned to their seats in the balcony he was well on his guard against the older clerk's efforts to "pump" him.

"Awfully clever of you to get a holiday out of it," he began.

"O, I just took it and risked the consequences," said Gerald, who felt sure that Smith knew quite as much about the matter as he did.

"Ah, well, come. Glad to see you pluck up a spirit. But above and above all I rather a far cry from the model clerk to Robin Hoodism. Look at that!"

"O, I don't know. One must break out sometimes," said Gerald, who was not going to play phony to the eyes of the confidential clerk twinkled at him curiously.

"You have seen Blair since you have been in London? He said suddenly, with such a keen look and such an abrupt change of manner that Gerald felt sure his own face must betray him. "I have," he answered. "Come, come, it's no denying it to you, you know."

"We're old pals, you and I; I've always liked you, Gerald, and taken your part with the government. I told him his keeping you at 'Les Bouleaux' like a rabbit in a hutch was rather rough on you. Now, you take my advice, and don't say you're going to meet with that old fellow Blair and his grievances. I don't deny that you have grievances; we all have. But he is past minding, and anybody who meddles with him now—well, I give you this warning kindly—in more likely, much more likely, to burn his own fingers than to do himself or Blair any harm. I take this in the right spirit, my boy, and profit by it."

There was in the man's geniality of voice and manner, in the hearty persuasiveness of his tones in spite of all his vulgarity of speech, such a mingled confidence and confidence, instead of shrinking from the touch of the bluff, plump hand laid on his shoulder, least toward him, that Gerald, with great attention, suffered against his will by the mild good-natured gaze of the bright black eyes. Smith had tried that mild gaze before, and knew how to follow it up effectively.

"Look here, Stanton," said he, with a plaintive, half-dog head of the head that might have been that of a dog, "I don't like it. I'm not the selfish, bad devil you think me. I've had to do some dirty work, for old Binks never walks through the mud but in somebody else's shoes; and I have a great sympathy for snivelling old fellows that think any story's better than none—like Blair. But I have a real liking for you, and I should like to see you get on; and as you seem sweet on that rough-haired little girl, I think the best thing you can do is to go straight to old Blair, and then come to a chance with him, and last, but not least, get Madame de Lancy to back you up."

This advice was so genuinely good in Gerald's eyes that he was disarmed altogether, and, turning his eyes absent toward the stage, he gave Smith the opportunity of examining his face very carefully, with particular attention to the arrangement of the pockets, while he leaned over the younger man and affectionately kept his forefinger hooked into the second buttonhole of his gray coat.

"Look here," he went on persuasively, "there's nothing like being straight in these matters. Why don't you run down to Dover-terrace, cross to-morrow morning and back old B. while you have a chance to say as you take Miss Peggy away by easy stages as soon as she will consent; I expect she won't be long coming over. She hears that somebody is in France before her."

"You will see Madame de Lancy in Paris," said Smith quickly, not as a question, but as a statement.

Gerald could not contradict him.

"Well, you see, you are a slippery fish, and as for that, double-dealing, shuffling, and all that sort of thing, I've come across," said Smith, with feeling.

"Do you know her, then?"

"I do," said Smith, "and I've come across her from the lips of the elder man, with a heartiness which astonished Gerald. 'Yes, and look here, you'd better not have anything to do with her, he continued more quietly. 'She's big game for a young shot like you; and—' and you'll get into worse trouble than you think if you trust her further than you can see her."

He was growing rather incoherent between his anxiety to impress and his consciousness that his remonstrances with the younger man were unavailing. After a few uncomfortable minutes, during which both watched the performance and listened to the singing with dull lack of appreciation, Smith jumped up as a drunken Gerald out of the box, down the staircase and into the street.

I don't think he is likely to trouble us much again before then."

"All right," said Gerald.

Smith did not intrude again upon the young lover, who took a very gloomy and despondent leave of his employer as the Paris train went off. When Gerald had caught the last glimpse of his former little friend, he looked at his carriage, took out the letter, and compared the hand writing of the direction with that on the note which he had found in his pocket on his arrival in Scotland.

"Yes, there is no doubt it is the same," said Gerald to himself. "And by the bye, how odd it is that I should be in business with our firm since we have gone side by side with this terrible affair. They make as much of him as if he were an emperor. I feel quite curious to see him."

One of the newest and most needed organizations for Christian work of which Chicago has not a few, is that of "The Protective Agency for Women and Children." It is organized a little more than a year ago in the Women's Club, to which, with the aid of various other benevolent societies, its success is due. Its aim is to afford moral and legal support to women and children who are helpless or being trespassed upon, either because they are ignorant of their rights or because they are poor and unable to defend themselves. Without encouragement, would never seek for whatever protection is afforded by the law. When a woman is in danger of being one of this class, an agent is sent to learn the circumstances and inquire into the means and desert of the victim. For the worthy and needy, the agency seeks to be the part of a sister. During the first year it received and investigated 136 complaints. PROCEEDED FROM TRIVIAL CAUSES, and nations are very often more apt to resent petty affronts and injuries than they are to resent the violation of rights. And, gentlemen, this was the state of mind with which the plenipotentiaries of the two nations came to deal when, three months ago, we held our conference at Geneva. And this is the state of things to which there are people in both countries who appeal. And I have said that I had treated our responsibility as lightly as I could, those who criticize the result of our labours, and those who have relinquished our task in despair. (Great applause.) I will readily believe that it was not an easy task for us to reconcile contending views and passions, and I am sure that I fully appreciated that they were absolutely and entirely right. Both sides in a controversy always are right. (Great applause.) I fully appreciated the strength of the arguments that might be brought forward by all sides, and it was only the anxious desire all of us to reach a settlement of our relations between Great Britain and the United States that encouraged us to pursue

PRINTING OFFICE RULES—When visiting a printing office keep these rules in mind: Subscribe for the paper and pay in advance; keep six feet away from Jim the devil; hand off the manuscript; don't talk to compositors; don't interfere with the exchanges and don't read the type on the galley.

Miss Warton holds her millinery opening to-day and to-morrow. Her stock of bonnets, hats, trimmings, feathers, &c., are very fine this year and on a scale much larger than that of former seasons. The ladies will not forget to give her their calls as they will be amply repaid by the visit.

The Rathbun Company Band have secured the services of the Beethoven Quartette for a concert to be held on the evening of Tuesday, March 27th. It will be remembered that this company gave a most successful concert here last winter under the auspices of Craig Lodge. The public will be glad to have another opportunity of hearing Mr. Chas. Kelly and the Beethoven Quartette. In addition Mr. James Fax, the renowned comic singer, will take part thus ensuring an evening of great pleasure and amusement. Mr. John Dalton recently paid a visit to a number of the western towns of Canada on matters connected with his business establishments in Deseronto. He was considerably disappointed with the appearance of several of these towns, which situated in the garden of the west, are supposed to be very enterprising and public spirited. He considered that most of them had attained their full growth and many of them exhibited evidence of decay. Not one of them manifested the go-ahead spirit of Deseronto.

These observations of Mr. Dalton bear out what we heard from other sources. We have reason to be satisfied in Deseronto, as the fate has been propitious to us during the past years of general depression in the province. These should stimulate us to work more energetically in building up the town and so improving it materially and socially that our pride in it may be increased.

Mr. Thomas Dryden is making an extension to his residence.

The Beautiful Embroideries, rich and cheap, at the Misses Evans, corner Thomas and Prince Streets.

Principal Grant, of Queen's College, will leave shortly on a trip to Australia, to be absent six or nine months.

The customer who pays the top price for money and borrows when money is dear and new products at a heavy price to lend to him has stretched to catch the first notes the malicious bull-frog who in the environment of the factory finds a congenial retreat.

Mr. Thomas H. Namith has the honour of being the senior member of the staff in the bank department of the Rathbun Company. Mr. Chas. Gouge, on the other hand, is the youngest clerk in the department.

A young lady on Dundas street, whose lover is a chemical works expert, insists on his carrying out of his college to counteract the mephitic odors which impregnate his carbureted garments.

Mr. John Dalton is again for Fane & Co's famous bicycles, the best in the market. Young men who intend indulging in this amusement during the coming season should give Dalton a call and inspect these goods.

The pupils of Miss Porter's department of the public school had a concert on Monday afternoon after school hours with the laudable purpose of raising funds to purchase some pictures and frames to decorate the walls of the room.

The council should spare some of the mud and dirt of the principal street before they get out of the gutter. It would greatly improve the appearance of things at a time of year when everything looks verdant.

Mr. Dalton holds her spring millinery opening on Saturday, March 23rd. Her stock is very complete in every detail and will be superior to any other. The attention of all the ladies of the district is directed to this announcement. A visit to her rooms would be most profitable in every sense of the term.

IT WON'T DO

To let you lose sight of the fact that we are the leading house for

DRESS GOODS.

In this line our selections are the choicest that trained skill can procure. This branch of our business receives such special care and attention, and has improved so much that it surpasses all others of its kind. Most of our new goods are to hand. Among them we observe many of the old colors with new names, and very many of the old materials which improvements in the manufacture would lead you to regard as entirely new fabrics. French All-wool stuffs are very prominent in Greys, Fawns, Cardinals, Browns, Olives, etc., Regies in Grey and Brown are abundant in a variety of qualities and prices. Nuns Veiling and Jersey Cloth appear in all the new shades. Tweed effects for suitings are seen in double and single widths and are in great demand. Cottons Dress Materials present a very attractive variety of finish. Sateens, Gingham, Chambrays, Zephyrs and Prints appear in great quantities, the latter in some very handsome combinations. While Black Goods are allowable for mourning, they are by no means limited to such uses.

In fine goods for Spring and Summer, Silk Warp, Henriettes, Serges, Surah, Twills, Melrose Cloths, Camel Hair Grenadine, and the fine grade of Nuns Veiling will be much worn.

Miss Allison needs no recommendation from us. She spares no pains in perfecting herself in the art of cutting and fitting Ladies' garments of every description, and informing herself regarding the latest styles. Information regarding styles, etc., cheerfully given to all our customers. See our stock before making your spring purchases.

Fancy Goods.

New goods make our Fancy Goods counter very attractive. Embroideries, Laces, Swiss Check Muslins, Nam Sooks, Victoria Lawns, Hosiery, Gloves, Ladies' Collars and Cuffs in all the new styles.
